the national standpoint, have refused to make refused to beware of the false prophets to that stilly sentimentalism which refuses to look truths in the face if the truths are unpleasant. We cannot meet the future either by mere gross materialism of by mere silly sentimentalism; above all, we cannot meet it if we attempt to balance gross materialism in action by silly sentimentalism in words.

Pacifists Serve Evil.

"In actual practice the professional macifists do not serve good. They serve evil. They do not serve high ideals. It is not righteous to fail to fight on behalf of assailed righteousness. Such a course probably means sheer cowardice and certainly means moral surrender. The men who are the torch carriers of world civilization are those, and only those, who acknowledge the supreme duty of protecting sacred spiritual things when attacked. In actual practice the professional pacifist is merely the tool of the sensual materialism who has no ideals, whose shriveled soul is wholly absorbed in automobiles and the movies and money making and in the policies of the cash register and the stock ticker and the life of fatted case.

"Two years ago any number of persons were assuring us that the day of great wars had passed; that it was impossible that there ever should be great wars again; that preparedness brought on war; that we did not need to take any steps in our own defence; that the capitalists of the world, hecause high finance had become international outrages.

Military standards of efficiency have been maintained in the upbuilding and upkeep of the Union Pacific. The special Act of Congress governing this railroad requires such standards and the Union Pacific has kept faith with Congress and the Nation by spending scores of millions in straightened way, reduced grades and curves, double tracks, automatic electric safety signals, superb granitegravel road-bed and other improvements which make this railroad not only fit for war but super-fit for peace.

In time of war the government reserves first right to the service of the "national railroad." But in time of peace travelers and shippers get full benefit of this extraordinary preparedness.
